

Self-driving Bitcoin banking on Mezo

Your BTC stays whole. The Shadow is what you live on.

THE DILEMMA

Bitcoin makes you rich. Spending it makes you sell.

Sell BTC

Get cash now — but lose all future upside.

Hold BTC

Keep the upside — but no cash to live on.

Mezo lets you borrow dollars against BTC at 1%. But then you manage the risk, the yield, and the liquidation yourself — 24/7.

THE SOLUTION

Cermin is the autopilot.

Deposit your BTC once. Cermin borrows at 1%, earns ~5%, and pays you the difference — about $167 a month per BTC.

Borrows dollars against your BTC

Earns about 5% on those dollars

Grows your cash when BTC goes up

Repays debt when BTC drops — no liquidation

THE ENGINE

Two automatic actions — that's it.

SKIM — when BTC goes up

When BTC rises, more borrowing room opens up.
Cermin turns it into spendable cash plus yield. Your balance grows — your BTC is never sold.

DEFEND — when BTC goes down

Before you get near liquidation, Cermin repays some debt to keep you safe.
It runs automatically, on-chain — anyone can trigger it, so you're safe even if we're offline.

WHY CERMIN WINS

DeFi makes you do the work. Cermin does it for you.

	Typical DeFi	Cermin
Setup	 Read docs, do the math	 Pick a preset. Done.
Risk	 You watch it, 24/7	 Cermin watches it for you
Yield	 Hunt for yield yourself	 Earns yield automatically
Strategy	 Set once, never changes	 Adapts as BTC moves
Feel	 Feels like a spreadsheet	 Feels like a bank app

ON-CHAIN PROOF

It defends itself.

BTC dropped 15% in a month. Cermin defended 5 times — never close to liquidation.

Defense $65,757 held · liquidation $57,862 never touched · verified on Mezo testnet
